

Training Policies – Yogic Life Yoga Teacher Trainings (RYT200, RYT300, RYT500)

By booking your training with Yogic Life, you agree to the following terms and policies.

These are designed to support a safe, respectful, and focused learning environment for everyone involved.

Code of Conduct

We ask all trainees to show up with presence, professionalism, and respect. This includes:

- Respecting each other, the trainers, and the space
- Maintaining a positive and supportive attitude
- Keeping personal or sensitive information shared in the group confidential
- Avoiding alcohol or drug use during the training period
- Living the yogic principles of truthfulness, non-harm, and awareness

Violation of this code may result in dismissal from the program without refund.

Attendance Policy

Full attendance is required for certification. This includes all training days, practice sessions, and assignments.

If you must miss part of the training due to an emergency:

- You must notify us as soon as possible
- Missed hours must be rescheduled privately or within a future training
- Additional costs may apply for private make-up sessions

We recommend planning personal time, work, and travel around the training schedule to ensure your full presence.

Anti-Harassment Policy

Yogic Life has zero tolerance for harassment of any kind. This includes sexual, verbal, emotional, physical, or online behavior that makes others feel unsafe, disrespected, or excluded.

We are committed to creating a safe space for all participants, regardless of gender, background, identity, or belief. Anyone who violates this policy may be removed from the training immediately without refund.

Anti-Retaliation Policy

If you speak up about inappropriate behavior or raise a concern during the training, you will be fully supported. Any form of retaliation, exclusion, or intimidation toward someone who shares a concern will not be tolerated.

Grievance Policy

If something feels off or uncomfortable, we invite you to speak up. You can bring any concern—big or small—to your lead trainer in person or in writing.

We're here to listen, support you, and work toward a solution that honors everyone involved.

Tuition & Refund Policy

Your spot is confirmed once your deposit or full payment is received.

Refund Terms:

- Cancel within 14 days of booking (and before training begins): full refund
- Cancel more than 30 days before the training: 50% refund
- Cancel within 30 days of training start: no refund

In case of a medical emergency or serious personal matter, we may offer a credit or transfer to a future training (case-by-case basis). Work-study or payment plan agreements are non-refundable once training has started.
